Procurement Card Security

On March 9th a luncheon panel discussion on the implementation of Procurement focusing on effective internal controls was hosted by the Topeka Chapter.

The panel included members from state and local government. Panel members shared their experiences with implementation and ineffective internal controls.

Panel members also provided suggestions on policies to implement to avoid misuse and ineffective internal controls.

Procurement cards have been a topic of much discussion, and ensuring that cardholders are held accountable is the concern of government officials.

Governor's Proclamation

For the second year in a row Governor Kathleen Sebelius is proclaiming March as Certified Government Financial Manager month for the state of Kansas.

The title of Certified Government Financial Manager, CGFM, has become widely recognized as a prestigious and influential certification.

The CGFM certification requires that a three part test be taken by applicants. Each test is 100 questions long and a time period of two hours and fifteen minutes is allotted for each part.

To retain the designation of CGFM the holder must:

1. Pay the CGFM renewal fee at the beginning of every year.
2. Adhere to the AGA Code of Ethics
3. Complete at least 80 hours of continuing professional education (CPE) every two years in government financial management topics or related technical subjects (with 20 in the first year).
4. Maintain and, if requested by AGA, provide detailed information on the CPE hours completed.

If you are interested in attaining the honorable distinction of CGFM please contact Pam Simecka at psimecka@Topeka.org.

STATE OF KANSAS

PROCLAMATION
BY THE GOVERNOR

TO THE PEOPLE OF KANSAS, GREETINGS:

WHEREAS, the Topeka Chapter of the Association of Government Accountants (AGA) is a professional organization, belonging to the AGA which has more than 15,000 members in 90 chapters in the United States and around the world and approximately 120 active members and associates representing state, federal, municipal and private sector accountants, auditors, and financial managers in Kansas; and

WHEREAS, AGA Topeka Chapter members have responded to AGA's mission of Advancing Government Accountability, as it continues its broad educational efforts, with emphasis on high standards of conduct, honor, and character in its Code of Ethics, and are making significant advances in both professional ability and service to the citizens of Kansas by mastering increasingly technical and complex requirements; and

WHEREAS, the Certified Government Financial Manager (CGFM) program of AGA provides a means of demonstrating professionalism and competency by requiring CGFM candidates to have appropriate educational and employment history and to pass a 3-part examination requiring expertise in The Government Environment, Governmental Financial Management and Control, and Governmental Accounting, Financial Reporting and Budgeting, and, requires each CGFM holder to maintain certification by completing comprehensive training sessions totaling 80 hours over a 2-year period; and

WHEREAS, the Topeka Chapter of AGA marks the completion of its 26th year of service to the state, federal, and municipal governmental entities, and to the public through private sector support;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, KATHLEEN SEBELIUS, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF KANSAS, do hereby proclaim March 2006 as

Certified Government Financial Manager Month

in Kansas and urge all citizens to join in this observance.

DONE: At the Capitol in Topeka

President's Message

Time of Change

Considering the ever-building momentum that the Topeka Chapter has experienced, this is hardly the time to sit back and relax. However, I have found myself considering the Chapter's accomplishments achieved over the past program year. It has been a year in which doing things "the way they've always been done" has never formed the logical basis of any chapter decisions. Calculated risks, a surveying of the land (including that which exists outside of traditional AGA boundaries), the dedication of members willing to go the extra mile, and a little bit of luck has led us to our present state of increasing membership and growing attendance at AGA functions. The decision to move the Midwest Regional Professional Development Conference (PDC) to February from May was met with some skepticism early on, but this year's 30 percent growth rate in attendance and the overwhelmingly positive responses on the PDC evaluations served seem to have justified the break from tradition. Unseasonably warm weather didn't hurt either. Special thanks goes to President-Elect Brandi Baer for leading such a successful PDC effort.

While the improvement in programming, growth in corporate sponsorship, and increase in attendance at the PDC are achievements of which we should all be proud, it is the increase in attendance at monthly professional lectures that seems to be most telling of the Chapter's success. I recall conversations with members of the Chapter Executive Committee early in the program year that revolved around whether attendance would exceed 15 or 20 people (the latter considered somewhat of a measure of success). Over the last few months, the concern has focused almost exclusively on locating a room big enough to accommodate crowds that have exceeded 50, and rarely fall below 35. It has been a good problem to have. Chapter Education Director Sabrina Wells has been instrumental in the success of the 2005/2006 series.

I have also noticed a gradual change in the opinions held about AGA by those outside of Chapter circles. Rather than being viewed as a closed group of accounting-only professionals, more and more folks have begun to recognize the Chapter as a premiere educational organization open to all professionals with some link to financial management (but not exclusively). Some people actually have decided to join AGA based on only a few experiences with some of our educational events. Others have chosen not to join, but continue to attend the events. Rewarding PDC attendees with the opportunity to join the organization for a meager $20 has paid off in terms of membership increases and growing enthusiasm for the coming year's activities.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the 2006/2007 Chapter officers: Brandi Baer (President), Sabrina Wells (President-Elect), Kathy Bohnhoff (Treasurer), and Debbie White (Secretary). Current President-Elect Brandi Baer will soon reveal her selections for Chapter Director positions.

The question that most likely now remains is why in the world the Chapter President would be writing a year-end overview of events before the program year has concluded. Why? Because the time felt right. Now I'll have to think of something to write for the real year-end president's message. Oh well.
